Cookies and Tracking Technologies

Our website uses browser cookies to store your preferences and record session information. Cookies are small pieces of information stored by your browser on your device. They allow us to store user preferences, user ID and password (if applicable), and to remember you when you take action on our website. We use session cookies (to operate our Service) and preference cookies (to remember your preferences and various settings). You can turn off cookies through most standard browsers; however, some features of our website may not function properly if cookies are disabled.

We also use tracking technologies such as beacons, tags, scripts and tracking pixels to collect information and to improve and analyze our Service. A tracking pixel is a transparent graphic image (usually 1 pixel x 1 pixel) placed on a web page that, together with a cookie, lets us see when certain content has been clicked on or otherwise interacted with. We do not respond to automated browser signals regarding tracking, such as "do not track" instructions.

When you visit our website, our system automatically collects information such as your web request, IP address, browser type, browser language, domain names, referring and exit pages and URLs, platform type, number of clicks, landing pages, pages viewed and the order of those page views, the amount of time spent on particular pages, the date and time of your request, one or more cookies that may uniquely identify your browser, and information collected by Google for Google Analytics. We use this information to analyze trends, estimate our audience size and usage patterns, speed up searches, administer the website, improve its design, recognize users when they return, track user movement, store information about users' preferences, customize our site and user experience according to individual interest, and otherwise enhance the services we provide.

Transfer of Data

Your information may be stored and processed by us or our service providers on computers located outside your state or country, where data protection laws may differ from those in your jurisdiction. We take reasonable steps to protect your information wherever it is stored. By submitting your information, you agree to this transfer.

Retention of Data

We will retain your Personal Data only for as long as is necessary for the purposes set out in this Privacy Policy. We will retain and use your Personal Data to the extent necessary to comply with our legal obligations (for example, if we are required to retain your data to comply with applicable laws), resolve disputes, and enforce our legal agreements and policies. We may retain any data you provide to us in an email or other inquiry to track the types of questions we receive, analyze trends, administer and improve our websites and services, track user movement, and otherwise enhance the services we provide.

We also retain Usage Data for internal analysis purposes. Usage Data is generally retained for a shorter period of time, except when it is used to strengthen security or improve the functionality of our Service, or when we are legally obligated to retain it for longer.

Service Providers

We may employ third-party companies and individuals to facilitate our Service ("Service Providers"), to provide the Service on our behalf, to perform Service-related services, or to help us analyze how our Service is used. These third parties have access to your Personal Data only to perform these tasks on our behalf and are obligated not to disclose or use it for any other purpose.

Analytics

We may use third-party Service Providers to monitor and analyze the use of our Service.

Google Analytics is a web analytics service offered by Google that tracks and reports website traffic. Google uses the data collected to track and monitor the use of our Service. This data is shared with other Google services. Google may use the collected data to contextualize and personalize the ads of its own advertising network.

You can opt out of having your activity on the Service made available to Google Analytics by installing the Google Analytics opt-out browser add-on. For more information on Google's privacy practices, please visit the Google Privacy & Terms web page: https://policies.google.com/privacy

Payments

We may provide paid products and/or services within the Service. In that case, we use third-party payment processors. We do not store or collect your payment card details. That information is provided directly to our third-party payment processors, whose use of your personal information is governed by their own privacy policies. These payment processors follow the PCI-DSS standards for the secure handling of payment information.

Links to Other Sites

Our Service may contain links to other sites that are not operated by us. If you click on a third-party link, you will be directed to that third party's site. We strongly advise you to review the privacy policy of every site you visit. We have no control over and assume no responsibility for the content, privacy policies, or practices of any third-party sites or services.

Children's Privacy

Your child's safety and security is our top priority. We collect information for campers under the age of 18 ("Children") through third-party camp service providers (such as registration and camper communication systems), and only with the consent of their parents or legal guardians. We do not knowingly collect personally identifiable information from anyone under the age of 18 without parent or legal guardian consent. All data we collect about minor Children is for camp management purposes only and held in the strictest of confidence. We do not share this information with any other party, except the service providers that collect, store and process it on our behalf for camp management purposes. If you are a parent or guardian and you are aware that your Child has provided us with Personal Data without your consent, please contact us. If we become aware that we have collected Personal Data from children without verification of parental consent, we take steps to remove that information from our servers.

3. Security

We use commercially reasonable physical, managerial, and technical safeguards to protect the integrity and security of your personal information, wherever we handle it. Information transmitted through our website is encrypted using SSL/TLS encryption. However, no method of transmission over the Internet or method of electronic storage is 100% secure, so we cannot guarantee the absolute security of any information you transmit to us, and you do so at your own risk. We do not accept liability for unintentional disclosure.

We do not sell your personal information, including your cell phone number, name, or billing information, to third parties.

4. Changes to This Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time. We will notify you of any changes by posting the new Privacy Policy on this page. Changes are effective when they are posted on this page. You are advised to review this Privacy Policy periodically for any changes. If Eagle Sky merges with or is acquired by another company, this Privacy Policy may change. Any continued use of the website indicates agreement with these terms, whether or not actual notice has been received or acknowledged.

Use for New Purposes

We may use your personal information for reasons not described in this Privacy Policy where permitted by law and the reason is compatible with the purpose for which we collected it. If we need to use your personal information for an unrelated purpose, we will notify you and explain the applicable legal basis.

Contact Us

You can send any privacy question or request to policy@eaglesky.camp. We may request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and process your request. Applicable law may require or permit us to decline your request. If we decline your request, we will tell you why, subject to
